

Editorial Practices, processes and everyday life in Social Psychology

Editorial Prácticas, procesos y cotidianidad en la Psicología Social

Enrique Baleriola¹, María Isabel Reyes Espejo², Manuela García-Quiroga³, Marcela González-Barrientos⁴, Carla Fardella⁴, Vicente Sisto⁵

1 Editor Asociado, Psicoperspectivas, Universitat Oberta de Catalunya, España

2 Editora Jefe, Psicoperspectivas, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso, Chile

3 Editores Asociados, Psicoperspectivas, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso, Chile

4 Editora Invitada, Universidad Andrés Bello, Viña del Mar, Chile

5 Editor Invitado, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso, Chile

revista@psicoperspectivas.cl

Received: October 15, 2020

Accepted: November 13, 2020

The everyday study seems to be a privileged area to understand the society's functioning and, as a consequence, the paths in which reality can be transformed. The COVID-19 virus has taught us that there is no bigger transformation on a planetary scale than the daily one-to-one interaction between people. In this special issue on everyday life, Psicoperspectivas. Individuo y Sociedad presents thirteen articles that, from different approaches, countries, theoretical frameworks and fields, highlight the centrality of the everyday for the analysis and transformation of diverse realities in the 21st century, surrounded by social networks, fake news, privatization processes, memories to be recovered, voices to be heard, and everything to be built at the gates of a new constitution in Chile. And since making the everyday evident also becomes a possibility to leave a record of what is happening in our times, we are invited to go through this harmonious set of works. In them, it will be possible to access the inspirations, challenges and creativity of researchers who, revealing their work, give us a critical and reflexive look at their practices and everyday life in the exercise of research.

Keywords: editorial, everyday life, social psychology, thematic section

References:

- Berg, M., & Mol, A. (1998). Differences in medicine: Unravelling practices, techniques, and bodies. Duke University Press.
- Fernández-Christlieb, P. (2019). Todos los psicólogos sociales: Recapitulación de cuatro o cinco décadas. Athenea Digital, 19(1). <https://doi.org/10.5565/rev/athenea.2444>
- Goffman, E. (2009). Relations in public. Transaction Publishers.
- Haraway, D. (1999). Las promesas de los monstruos: Una política regeneradora para otros inapropiados/bles. Política y Sociedad, 30, 121-163. <https://dx.doi.org/10.5209/POSO>

Ibáñez, T. (2001). Municiones para disidentes. Gedisa.
Latour, B. (1992). Ciencia en acción: Cómo seguir a los científicos e ingenieros a través de la sociedad. Labor.
Nietzsche, F. (2000). Ecce Homo. Proyectos Ánfora.
Serres, M. (1982). Parasite. John Hopkins University.
Tarde, G. (2013). Las leyes sociales. Cactus.

Financial support: Escuela de Psicología, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso, Chile.

How to cite this article: Cómo citar este artículo: Baleriola, E., Reyes Espejo, M., González-Barrientos, M., Fardella, C., Sisto, V. (2020). Editorial Prácticas, procesos y cotidianeidad en la Psicología social. Psicoperspectivas, 19(3), 1-5. <https://doi.org/10.5027/psicoperspectivas-vol19-issue3-fulltext-2147>

Published under Creative Commons Attribution International 4.0 License